THEOLOGY DEPARTMENT

CLASSES TAUGHT:

World Religions, Church and the World,
Church and Sacraments

ABOUT ME:

I received my Masters in Theological Studies from the University of Dayton where I split my time as a graduate assistant with campus ministry and a research assistant for the Hope Border Institute.

I have worked in college and high school ministry for 10 years and am excited to be in the classroom to share my love of the Church and how she engages with the world.

GRADING POLICY

Grading is based on total points.

HOMEWORK/LATE WORK POLICY

Students will not have homework most days. However, when homework is assigned it is expected to be submitted the following day. I will grade for accuracy and completion.

When absent, students should contact me (via email) in order to get details on what they miss. Typically, if a student misses a day of work, the assignment is due the day after they return. If a student misses a class day when a test or quiz is taken, he or she should expect to take the test on the day they return.

HOW CAN A STUDENT SUCCEED IN YOUR CLASS?

In order to do well, students must be present, attentive, and make use of class time given for assignments. Assignments must be turned in on time and show their best effort.
